TAYLOR AND YOEMEN MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

Cameron fans have another opportunity to see the Yoemen in action Friday evening at 8 o'clock when the Taylor Gridsters who style themselves as the "Ducks" invade the sacred precincts of the Yoemen's home grounds.

This is the first contest between these two teams in many years, and the dope sheets point to a real contest. Earlier in the season Taylor defeated Austin 7-6 which may not be of great significance since Austin seems to be the goat among class A High Schools this year, having been overwhelmingly defeated by both Temple and Waco. A little later in the season Smithville, not counted a particularly strong team, held Taylor to a tie.

Boy Scouts

TROOP NO. 52

Thursday night the machinery of Scouting was again set in motion as Assistant Scoutmaster Shorty Matula raised the curtain on another episode representing that great organization.

In the opening Troop 52's theme song was led by Scout Frank Richter. Afterwards the game of "Quiz" was played in which every scout had to squirm and scratch his head in a rustic attempt to give correct answers.

Then those "Stepping Stanislaw Brothers" brought up a hike in such a convincing manner that it was accepted and Troop 52 decided to go to Thick Pasture next Thursday night. Scouts will meet at K. of C. Hall at 6:30 hike night. Everyone going out there ahead or joining in on way from Hall will be liable to prosecution in Kangaroo Court.

We wish to thank everyone who so generously helped Troop 52 uniform on the tenth, and if our friends will only be patient for a short time the suits will be returned.

Every Scout and Scouter of the Troop deeply regret the illness of Mrs. Lindle who is now in Cameron Hospital. Surely she would appreciate a friendly visit.

PUBLISHERS NOTICE

Due to the time limit some news matter of interest has been omitted from this issue. Many columns of matter submitted have been set aside. In the future only matters of news interest will be carried. The most acute problem of the publisher is to escape giving away all his time, space and money to grafters of free space. It requires some courage and often results in misunderstanding when a publisher closes his columns to matter not ethical as free run, but such a course has now become necessary.

In Memorium W.A. Morrison

By T. A. FISHER

On Friday, August 17, 1933, death claimed the Honorable W. A. Morrison of Cameron, Texas, advocate and champion of the rights of childhood and friend and servant of the American public school.

Mr. Morrison was born in Tennessee, October 17, 1959. Most of his youth was spent in Mississippi, which he claimed as his native state. As a young man he came to Texas and settled in Milam County, where for a number of years he engaged in teaching in the rural schools. After some years spent in teaching he took up the study of law at the University of Texas and was admitted to the bar in 1891. Teaching however, was his first love and he remained loyal to the cause of education to the end of his life.

He witnessed the rise of the district school system in Texas and experienced at first hand the struggle of rural communities for the establishment and maintenance of schools. With the rise of urban life in Texas he began early to observe the inequalities of educational opportunity as between the towns and cities and the rural communities. While he believed in education at all levels and envisioned a great unified and coordinated educational system from the kindergarten to the university, his sympathies were first with the rural schools and his chief efforts were devoted to their improvement.

In 1890 he wrote into the platform of the Milam county Democratic Executive Committee a plank providing for the establishment of the office of County Superintendent of Milam county and later led a successful fight before the Commissioner's Court for the establishment of this office. He was instrumental also in bringing about the appointment by the Commissioners' Court of the first County Superintendent of Milam County and was a friend and supporter of every county superintendent to serve the schools of Milam county from the establishment of the office to the time of his death.

For twenty-two consecutive years he served as chairman of the Milam County Board of Education and was forty-four times elected as a member (See MORRISON on page 2)

OLD DOCUMENTS TAKEN FROM CORNER STONE

One of the most important events to happen on the day of the recent Catholic Jubilee Celebration, October 11th, was the removal of the corner stone of the First Catholic Church. This cornerstone was placed June 23, 1891, a little over 42 years ago. In the cornerstone was found a document wrapped in paper in a glass bottle. The paper in which the document was wrapped bore the letterhead of Geo. A. Thomas Drug Store. The Milam County Bank Date Stamp was impressed on the paper, June 23, 1891. The document was written by the late Rev. P. M. Lennartz who was pastor of the Catholic church at that time. The document contained the following words in Latin:

Giant Victory In World Series Result of Team Harmony and Pitching; Homer Peel Discusses Building of Great New York Team

By W. M. COBB

"The World Series just closed was no doubt the most interesting five-game series ever played. The Giants were not expected to head the National League and certainly were not lauded as World champions, but they won a great victory," said Homer Peel, Giant Utility man, who is home to spend his vacation with his wife at Maysfield, ten miles east of here.

"It was the consensus of opinion early in the season, that the Giants would do well to finish the first division and some sports writers ranked us 7th. Only one New York sports writer gave us a chance to win and the editor thought his judgment bad and fired him. He went to work on a small paper in West Virginia. After the victory he was recalled and praised by his New York paper," Peel said.

"The Giants are probably the greatest club ever organized for harmony and team spirit—that made the difference between the clubs record last year and this. The men traded off were probably as good players as those traded for, but the changes brought harmony, and the team spirit was wonderful. We were determined to win the Series and would do anything on earth to win it. Manager Bill Terry is given the credit for the spirit and he deserves it," Peel added.

YOEMEN WIN FROM HEARNE TEAM 21-0

Before a crowd estimated at from twelve to fifteen hundred the Yoemen celebrated Friday the 13th by plucking the wing feathers from the flying Hearne Eagles to the tune of 21-0.

It was the first victory for the Yoemen over the Hearne boys in 4 years and the Yoemen are hopeful that they have finally shattered the Hearne Jinx and that maybe it is a good omen that they may have some luck in plucking the stingers of the Caldwell Hornets on October 27.

Receiving the kickoff on their own 45 yard line the Yoemen, by a series of end runs and line plunges, carried the ball to Hearne's 20 yard line from which point, Breeding in a smashing off tackle play, went over for the first touchdown, incidentally shaking off several Hearne tacklers.

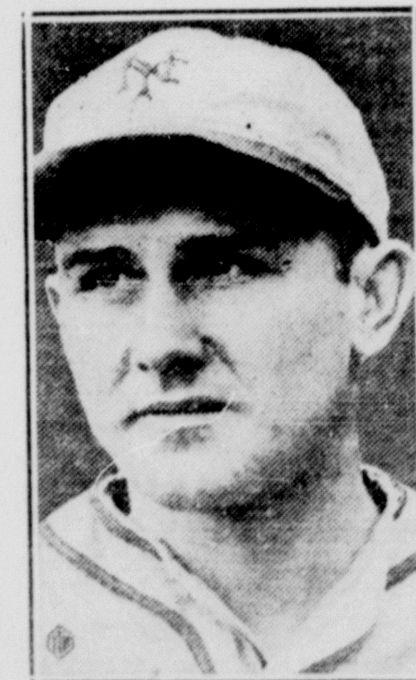

Breeding kicked goal for the extra point and the score stood 7-0 for (See YOEMEN on page 5)

Funeral rites were held by Father Diviss, Taylor Priest at the residence at 10 a. m. Tuesday. Services were held at noon in the church at Taylor. Interment was made at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in Elgin cemetery.

MAX COLLINS, BELOVED CITIZEN, DIES SUNDAY

On Sunday, October 15, 1933 at 12:45 in the afternoon death claimed Max Collins, 60, beloved citizen, friend and neighbor, at Kings Daughters Hospital in Temple, following an operation on the previous day. His sudden death brought shock and sorrow to thousands who knew him for his worth and loved him with an affection accorded few men.

Mr. Collins, suffering what he believed a minor ailment, went to the hospital on Tuesday, October 10. Only a few friends and the family knew of the approaching operation.

After the operation on Saturday his condition became critical. A blood transfusion was resorted to in an effort to save his life, his son Albert Collins of Cameron being called for the transfusion. The end came in the peaceful quiet of his hospital room with his sons and daughter, Miss Ethel Collins and a few close friends at his side.

Max Collins was born December 16, 1873 in Vilna, Russia. When a youth of ten years he came to America. He had loved his land of adoption, had lived for its ideals and left written large on the scroll of years a story of devotion, ever a citizen of worth. He wrought as only those who have the spark of the born craftsman for social betterment and the expansion of justice, freedom and right.

In 1893 he came to Cameron and entered business. He married Miss Nettie Cohn on February 19, 1899 at Cameron. He met his wife in Cameron while she was visiting with her sister, Mrs. Ben Strum.

He is survived by his widow and five children: Bennie Collins, Houston; Albert Collins, Cameron; Leon Collins, Waco; William Collins, Marshall and Miss Ethel Collins, Cameron.

As an immigrant youth leaving behind the age old oppression of the northern European Empire, he crossed (See COLLINS on page 4) of that body, the electorate writing his name on the ballot even in the years when he was not up for re-election.

Although he was one of the busiest civil lawyers in Texas, no school trustee ever found him too busy to assist in the solution of school problems coming under his jurisdiction.

One of his chief pleasures was to attend schoolhouse meetings and talk to the people of rural communities about the importance of education. His favorite text on these occasions was the famous passage from the address of the great Mirabeau B. Lamar, "Cultivated mind is the gaudian genius of democracy. . . . It is the only dictator that freemen acknowledge and the only security that freemen desire." "This," he often said, "is the most sublime utterance that ever fell from the lips of man in support of universal education in a democracy, and it should be written upon the walls of every schoolhouse in Texas."

In 1929 in company with the county superintendent and members of the Milam County Board of Education he spent some three days in a tour of inspection of the schools of Webster Parish, Louisiana. The trip was a source of unending delight to him; and so pleased was he to find that at least one county in the united States was actually offering equal educational opportunities to the children of the cities and remote rural districts alike that he became a devotee of the county unit system of administration and the establishment of larger school units.

During the biennium of 1931 to 1933 he assisted in the establishment of a number of high school units in Milam county and saw the lengthening of school terms and the provisions of adequate equipment in at least one-third of the rural area of his own county.

One of the fondest hopes was a unified system of education for his county climaxed by a county junior college.

In 1933, solely upon the basis of his merit as a school man he was appointed to membership on the State Board of Education. With great reluctance he resigned his position as chairman of the County Board to accept this high office. It was his privilege to attend but three meetings of the State Board of Education—the April meeting at Austin, the June meeting at Lubbock and the July meeting at Austin. At both the June and July meetings he challenged the ruling of the attorney general that it was obligatory on the part of the State Board to set aside a sufficient sum of money to liquidate the deficit in the available school fund before setting the apportionment for the 1933-34 session. It was his contention that under the constitution and statutes funds belonging to one fiscal year could not be applied to the liquidation of a deficit created in former years. At the Austin meeting in July he prepared and introduced the resolution adopted by the board setting the per capita apportionment at sixteen dollars. A second clause of the resolution, which was stricken out by a substitute motion, would have instructed the comptroller to set aside funds accruing to the available school fund from delinquent taxes and other sources for the purpose of liquidating the deficit.

He devoted a great deal of time to a study of the state's educational program and frequently conferred with the State Superintendent and members of his staff with respect to problems confronting the administration. It was his conviction that the State Board was destined to become a powerful influence in shaping the educational destinies of the state and it was his desire to be able to bring intelligent service to the solution of the state's educational problems.

He had expressed an interest in the affairs of the State Teachers Association and had planned to attend its annual meetings so that he might more thoroughly acquaint himself with the educational program fostered by that organization.

Mr. Morrison brought to the service of education a thorough knowledge of the history of the American public school and a keen insight into the political philosophy underlying and supporting universal education.

A man of valiant courage and dogged determination, he never lost a battle for the principle of right and justice embodied in the American educational ideal. Defeat to him was always temporary and presaged victory a little on.

On Saturday before his death on the following Friday he attended a meeting of the school trustees of the rural districts of Milam County held under the direction of Deputy State Superintendent, E. E. Chamness. Just before the close of the meeting he answered an argument voiced against the state's policy of centralization of high schools with transportation and tuition at state expense. During the course of his remarks, he said, "The world moves forward and not backward. I, too, have had some difficulty in reconciling myself to the changes which have characterized our educational growth and development; but progress and change are inevitable and it is our duty to see that they result in the betterment of our school system." This was his last public utterance and is characteristic of the life he led. He realized the necessity of change and was extremely solicitous that it should mean improvement and betterment for the individual and society. He had acquired during a long life of public service without momentary compensation the rare quality of racial-mindedness and was able to look backward over the long road the race had traveled and forward to the unknown. Public education he believed was the most effective weapon for society to use in the ceaseless conflict between ignorance and selfishness on the one hand and enlightenment and ultrism on the other. He backed up that belief by using himself without stint or limit in the fight for ever-unquoddo pccopuonpe supzajus ties for the children of the land. His work stands as a monument to his devotion, his energy, his courage.—T. A. Fisher.

He gave as the essential point in all character training the development of a will to do the right, the impetus and the environment to be supplied by home and school, with example of parents and teachers counting for more than all else.

The business of the meeting included a resolution of appreciation of the Girl Scout work sponsored by the local Parent-Teacher Association and led by Mrs. A. E. Kruse.

Take a Pinch of BLACK-DRAUGHT For Distress After Meals

He had suffered distress after meals, but by taking Thedford's Black-Draught he was relieved of this trouble, writes Mr. Jess Higgins, of Dawsonville, Ga.

"I had sour stomach and gas," Mr. Higgins explains, "and often I would have bilious spells. I read about Thedford's Black-Draught and began to take it. It relieved me of this trouble. I keep it all the time now. I consider it a fine medicine. I take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals when I need it. It helps to prevent sick headache and to keep the system in good order."

Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a SYRUP, for CHILDREN.

Max Collins

ed the Atlantic and turned his face resolutely to the rising sun of a new life in America. How he mastered the arts of citizenship and reared a monument high and dear in the memory of his fellows is known to all men who knew Max Collins. He landed in New York, later coming to Texas and settling at Austin where he engaged in the shirt manufacturing business with a brother, Chas. Collins. He later came to Cameron and entered business with P. L. Bergum now of Ben Arnold. The firm was known as Gollins & Bergum. A few years later this partnership was dissolved and he formed a partnership in 1904 with Ben Strum, a brother-in-law who was later Mayor of Cameron. This firm was Collins & Strum.

In 1910 Mr. Collins and Mr. Strum dissolved partnership and he continued in business under the name of Max Collins and this firm is still in operation and under his direction to the time of his death.

Mr. Collins was widely known in fraternal circles where his regard for his fellowman found adequate expression. He had endeared himself to thousands in fraternal work. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias and a member of San Andres Lodge No. 170 A. F. & A. M. of which he was past master. He was a member of San Antonio Consistory Scottish Rite Masons and also Karem Shrine Temple at Waco.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, October 16, 1933 from the residence of his son, Albert Collins in Cameron, with the Masonic Lodge in charge. Judge Graham Gillis was master of ceremonies. Rabbi Macht of Waco, pastor of the Jewish church of which he was a member, read the religious rites and paid a tribute to Mr. Collins. Masons met in the lodge room at 2 p. m. and went in a body to the home and led the procession to Rockdale where the body was interred.

The funeral cortege more than two miles in length numbered hundreds of friends and neighbors who had known Mr. Collins in his extraordinary life of unselfish devotion and living. The late sun of a melancholy October afternoon fell across the landscape to gather up in its mellow glow the hearts of many who mourned. There in the cemetery on a hilltop in the soil he so much loved friends and lodge members consigned him to await the day of reckoning, mingling their tears from eyes dimmed with grief in a tribute as tender and sweet as the thousands upon thousands of flowers that made the scene a picture of imperishable memory.

When Max Collins died there gathered a silence over lips that warmed to countless kind words and advice to friends. His heart stilled at last from the flow of tender feelings for others, big and warm like the sun that fell across his resting place, draws irresistibly the undying memory of thousands who are unmistaken in their appraisal of his life and worth to the community. A rich heritage, his life will refresh and remake all through the years the spirits of those who knew and loved him best of all.

Out of town relatives to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Strum of Marshall; Mrs. Ben Tobolowsky of Marshall; Marcus Strum of Tyler; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Strum of San Antonio; Morris Strum of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Speigle of Del Rio; Mrs. J. A. Hayman of Waco.

C. N. Green & Brothers of Cameron directed funeral arrangements. Pall bearers were: J. R. Hays, J. W. Haygood, W. A. Bonds, J. L. Barmore, B. F. Bonds, W. F. Sharpe, Jesse Brock and Graham Gillis.

Cameron until near the end of the first half when Terry plunged over for another count and Breeding's toe added the extra point. The first half closed with Cameron 14 and Hearne 0.

In the third quarter Hearne threatened to score after Barrett playing safely, fumbled a Hearne punt on his own 15 yard line. But the strong Yoemen line held them for four downs after Hearne had made it a first down on the five yard line.

Near the end of the fourth quarter Terry again went over for six points and Breeding was successful in sending the third successive kick from placement through the upright for the extra point making the final score Cameron 21, Hearne 0.

The entire Yoemen squad put up an excellent exhibition of winning football. Followers of the Yoemen were delighted over the fine improvement shown after the unexpected upset at Navasota.

Joe Moore and wife of Gause, spent a few hours in Cameron the past week. Mr. Moore helped the New York Giants win the World series this season, and will be with the Giants again the coming season.

Use This Laxative made from plants

THEODORE'S BLACK-DRAUGHT is made from plants that come up from seeds and grow in the ground, like the garden vegetables you eat at every meal. NATURE has put into these plants an active medicine that stimulates the bowels to act—just as Nature put the materials that sustain your body into the vegetable foods you eat.

In Black-Draught you have a natural laxative, free from synthetic drugs. Its proper use does not make you have to depend on cathartic chemical drugs to get the bowels to act daily.

Find out by trying Black-Draught what a good medicine it is for constipation troubles. In 25¢ pkgs. (dry).

P.S.—For Children, get the new, pleasant tasting SYRUP of Theodore's Black-Draught. 25¢ & 50¢ bottles.

MEDICAL ADVICE

If you want to

- ... keep the bowel action regular and comfortable
- ... make constipated spells as rare as colds
- ... avoid danger of bowel strain

—use a liquid laxative

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" declare thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not apt to cure your constipation with salts, pills and tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can overcome this condition just by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels just as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time.

Why Hospitals use a Liquid Laxative

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Will not irritate kidneys.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it!

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains a doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know what is in it, don't chance it. The contents of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is stated plainly on the label; fresh herbs, pure pepsin, active senna.

Its very taste tells you syrup pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. Drug stores have it, ready for use, in big bottles.

In Our Show Window Appears This Symbol

This symbol R appears on every prescription that your Doctor writes and has remained a custom from the ancient days to the present time. The heading R appearing on your prescriptions is an abbreviation of the word recipe (Take)—the imperative of the Latin verb recipio.

The use of the inclined stroke upon the tail of the R is traced to a custom common in the ancient days of superstition of placing at the top of the prescription an abbreviation, called an "invocation" which represented a prayer to a favorite Deity.

We display this symbol R with this explanation, for it symbolizes our drug store as a Prescription Pharmacy.

For 43 years the prescription department has been the corner stone of this business, during which time we have maintained the standard—the quality at all times has been the best obtainable—the number of prescriptions compounded runs into the hundreds of thousands, and none other than capable Registered Pharmacists have been here to serve you.

In time of sickness and distress you need the services of the Pharmacist. Your State (for your protection) now requires that he be a Graduate of Pharmacy and in addition thereto pass the Texas State Board of Pharmacy before becoming eligible to compound your prescriptions.

Use this Drug Store if you appreciate this kind of service.

22 Years Ago in Brown Bottles Now...in Enzyme Control

SCHLITZ introduced the famous Brown Bottle 22 years ago—and told the world that beer in white bottles exposed to sunlight for three minutes took on a skunky taste and became undrinkable.

Other brewers hooted and stormed but continued with their white bottles—and continued to lose sales to SCHLITZ.

Now, many prominent brewers have adopted the Brown Bottle—thus admitting the scientific truth and compelling force of SCHLITZ statements—which had made such an indelible impression on the public.

BUT—as sensational as the Brown Bottle advertisements were, they are dwarfed by the latest announcement of SCHLITZ that they have solved a problem which has puzzled the industry for years—and that is Enzyme Control in the brewing processes.

Enzymes digest malt, hops and yeast into solution. Unless the enzymatic activities are controlled skillfully—the result is a rank, indigestible beer.

SCHLITZ is brewed to a split second under a secret enzyme control—it is fully fermented at the brewery. It cannot ferment in your stomach to cause indigestion, flatulency, or discomfort otherwise. Try it today!

Mighty Cornhuskers Smother Pride of Texas Under 26-0 Score

This splendid football picture, rushed to Dallas by air mail from Lincoln, Nebraska, shows a remarkable bit of action in the intersectional game Saturday between Texas and Nebraska. Texas lost 26 to 0. As Texas has been highly touted as a major contender for the Southwest Conference title this year, the decided victory of Nebraska came as a surprise.

RED CROSS AN AGENCY OF VOLUNTEER WORKERS

"Red Cross is a volunteer agency." This statement was made today by Rev. J. P. Love, Chairman of the Milam County Chapter of the American Red Cross. "The Treaty of Geneva under which Red Cross functions in time of war, defines the Red Cross service as that of a volunteer agency supplementing official government services. The Congressional charter of the American Red Cross specifically states that the duties of the organization are 'to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war' and 'to act in matters of volunteer relief.' "Few people realize the extent to which volunteers carry the load of all Red Cross," the chairman continued. "The fact is that volunteer workers so far outnumber the paid personnel—the work done by volunteers so far overshadows that of the paid worker, a comparison is difficult. In the state of Texas alone, more than 27,000 volunteer officers, directors and committee members are chosen in their respective communities by popular vote of the Red Cross membership to conduct Red Cross programs and activities.

In Milam county the program and service of the Red Cross Chapter are under the direction of Rev. J. P. Love, chairman, T. V. Adams Treasurer and a board of directors composed of leaders of the community.

In all the 3700 Red Cross Chapters in the United States, volunteer workers are now busy organizing the Roll Call to be launched on Armistice Day. The Roll Call will be under the direction of Mr. L. Van Perkins, who has accepted the appointment as Roll Call chairman.

us up and made us a winning team." The Mayor of New York recently said, "The Giants were shocked in the earthquake and after that, they have been shocking everybody else."

"The Giants have a wonderful pitching staff. Have not seen the percentage figured out, but am sure it will show the lowest earned-run record of any World Series," said Peel said: "Joe Moore is the best shut-out games during the season was phenomenal and two of his World Series Games would have been shut-outs with perfect fielding support."

"The fact that Washington out-hit us during the season and we did better in the series, might have been due to the American League using a livelier ball and again, our better pitching may account for it."

Speaking of his side partner, Mr. Peel said: "Joe Moore is the best defensive fielder in the National League. He showed that by his playing this year."

"Travis Jackson's playing during the Series was remarkable. The tougher the going the better Jackson likes it. His example gave us confidence. Another thing that spurred us on was the League spirit. The American League had won so many championships lately, that people had begun to look upon the National Clubs lightly and we were determined to win and help the Nationals regain their prestige.

"President Stoneham of the National Leagues said that our winning the fifth game, cost him two hundred thousand dollars in gate receipts, but he was glad to lose it," which shows how much he values the victory for the National League."

"This also proves that the game is square. It would not be the great American game that it is, if it was not on the up and up," said Peel.

"John McGraw will probably be the next czar of baseball, whenever Judge Landis chooses to retire," said Homer. "The players would be glad to see him succeed in this position. Landis was a great fan, but McGraw was a great player, and players would naturally like to see him at the head of baseball when the change is made."

Homer Peel has been in fine health all season, except possibly a little overweight at this time, due to lack of work. He and Joe Moore, also of Milam county, alternated in left field against left and right-handed pitchers, nearly all season, and Peel was used twice in the World Series as a pinch-hitter, making one hit, a batting average of 500. Lefty O'Doul was used once and drove in two runs, batting 1000.

"Terry is the greatest manager to play for in the League. You just have to hustle every minute and Terry will do anything he can for you. In that respect, he is more like Connie Mack than any other manager."

At the close of the series, Manager announced that there would be few changes in the line-up next year. The Giants have several native Texans on the roster, including Moore, Peel, Mancuso, James, Snyder, Richards and Shores, which is far more players than from any other state. For this reason the Giants are particularly popular in Texas.

Homer Peel was born at Port Sullivan, in this county and this spring he bought a fine Brazos bottom farm adjoining that village.

Peel, Hubbel, Fitzsimmons and a number of other Giants have accepted an invitation of the Del Rio Chamber of Commerce to go on a hunting trip in Mexico and they expect to leave in a few days on the trip.
